Interleukin (IL)-13 and IL-4 are both induced in atherosclerotic plaque tissue. Previous data in the literature show that IL-4 can induce IL-6 expression in human monocyte-derived macrophages, but the effects of IL-13 on human smooth muscle cells are unknown. We have assessed the effects of IL-13 on the regulation of IL-6 and IL-4 expression in human aortic smooth muscle cells (HAOSMC) and human monocytes. HAOSMC (passage 3-6) were treated with human IL-13 (10 ng/ml, 24 hours) and then IL-6 and IL-4 mRNA expression were analyzed by Northern blot analysis and reverse transcription polymerase chain reaction. HAOSMC also were treated with IL-13 and supernatants were collected to assess production of IL-6 and IL-4. IL-13 induced IL-6 mRNA expression in HAOSMC, but not IL-4 mRNA. HAOSMC supernatants collected following IL-13 treatment also contained IL-6, but no detectable IL-4. IL-13 induces IL-6 mRNA expression in HAOSMC, but not IL-4. These data suggest that IL-13 may play a role in atherosclerosis by influencing the induction of IL-6 in the atherosclerotic plaque. Bromocriptine mesylate for the treatment of erectile dysfunction in men with spinal cord injury. Erectile dysfunction (ED) is a common disorder in men with spinal cord injury (SCI). However, there are no effective treatments for ED, and little is known about the pharmacology of the dopaminergic system in men with SCI. To determine the effectiveness and safety of bromocriptine mesylate in treating ED in men with SCI. Two multi-centre, randomised, double-blind, placebo-controlled trials. Two university-affiliated rehabilitation centres and a Veterans Administration hospital. The study population consisted of 68 men with SCI between the T 82157476af
